What would you like to improve?

Start with the space, not a complicated plan or a fixed list of products.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Is there one area you want to focus on first?”

Garden Beds

Refresh existing beds or create a new planting area.

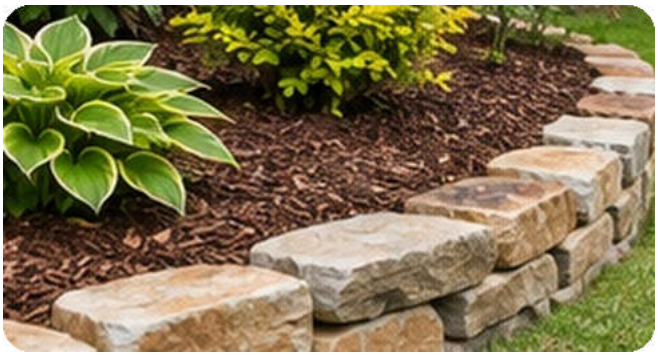

Front Entrance

Bring color, structure and better curb appeal.

Backyard Areas

Shape a more welcoming, usable outdoor space.

Overall Appearance

Coordinate garden beds, planting and accent features for a cohesive look.

What could your garden become?

You can keep what works and improve only what the property needs.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Let me show you a few directions for this area.”

Refresh

Clean, redefine the edges, and renew the existing finish.

MAKE IT NEAT

Improve

Adjust the layout, add plants and upgrade selected materials.

BUILD ON WHAT EXISTS

Transform

Create a new planting design with coordinated materials.

A FRESH DIRECTION

What kind of edging would you like?

A good edge defines the garden and changes its finished appearance.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Do you like a natural border, or something you can see?”

Natural Cut Edge

A clean, spade-cut transition between the lawn and the bed.

NO INSTALLED BORDER

Flexible Plastic Edging

A low-profile physical divider that follows curves.

FLEXIBLE, UNOBTRUSIVE

Metal Edging

A crisp, narrow line for a modern, restrained finish.

DEFINED, SLIM BORDER

Would you like a decorative edge?

Brick, natural stone and block offer different textures and profiles.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Which of these styles looks best beside your home?”

Brick Edging

Warm clay tones and a classic, orderly garden border.

TRADITIONAL APPEARANCE

Natural Stone Edging

Irregular stones and a relaxed, organic garden feel.

NATURAL TEXTURE

Concrete Block / Paver Edging

More substantial edging with structured lines and raised options.

STRONGER VISUAL PROFILE

Which mulch color do you prefer?

Mulch is a popular finish for planted beds and helps protect soil.

“Brown, black or red? Let’s compare the color with your home.”

Brown Mulch

Warm, natural color that works with many planting palettes.

CLASSIC CHOICE

Black Mulch

A darker finish that creates stronger contrast with greenery.

BOLD CONTRAST

Red Mulch

A warm, vivid option for properties that suit a red accent.

COLORFUL FINISH

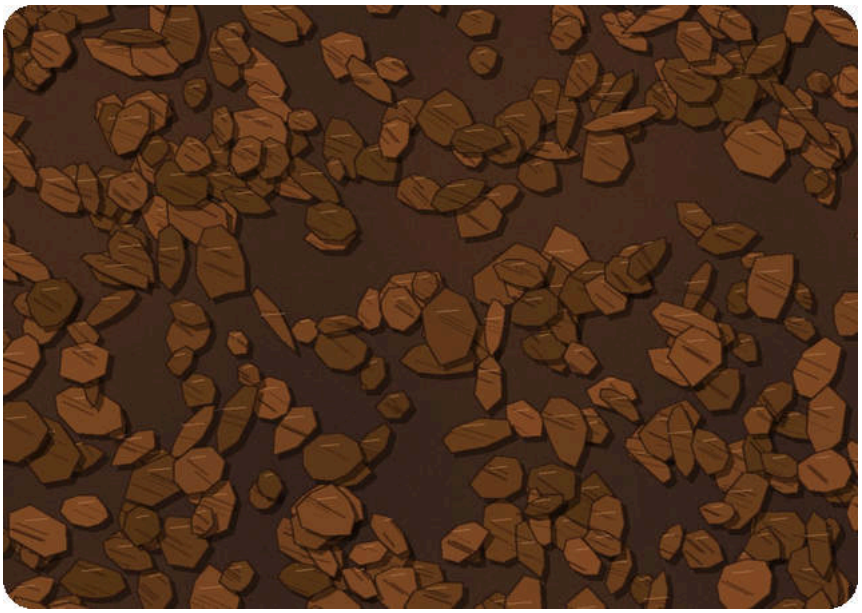

Would you like natural bark?

Bark can give planting beds a textured, earthy appearance.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Would you rather see chunkier bark or a finer texture?”

Natural bark textures

Compare chunkier bark nuggets (left) with finer bark pieces (right). Actual bark products, sizes and colors vary by supplier.

Gardenboro tip: we’ll recommend a product based on the plants, bed conditions and desired appearance.

Do you prefer pine straw?

A soft, natural finish frequently used in landscapes across North Carolina.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Would you like this softer, woodland-style appearance?”

Pine Straw / Pine Needles

A warm, needle-textured ground cover for suitable beds and plantings. It can be refreshed

We can compare pine straw with bark or mulch right here in your yard.

What kind of decorative rock do you like?

Stone can bring a strong texture, cleaner contrast and a distinct finish.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Rounded river rock, light stone, or something darker?”

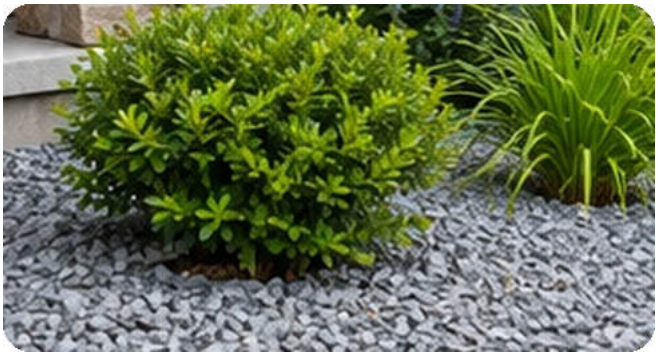

River Rock

Rounded natural tones with varied sizes.

Light Decorative Stone

Bright texture and a lighter garden appearance.

Gray Rock / Gravel

A cooler, quieter neutral look.

Mixed Natural Stone

Varied tones and stone sizes for added texture.

Would you mix mulch and stone?

Combining materials can add balance, focus and texture.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“What if we put mulch by the plants and rock in an accent area?”

Stone Border + Mulch

A clear stone accent around or beside planted mulch beds.

DEFINED CONTRAST

Rock Accent + Dark Mulch

Light rock accents against dark mulch for a strong contrast.

CLEAN LINES

Natural Stone + Mulch

Stones, shrubs and mulch in a warm, layered garden.

MIXED TEXTURE

What kind of planting do you like?

We recommend plants for the light, space and care the property needs.

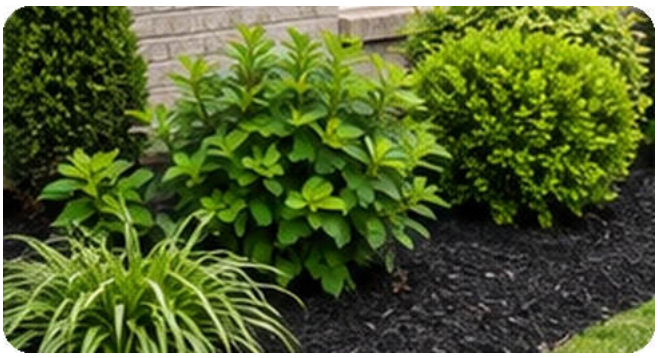

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“More flowers, year-round greenery, grasses, or a mix?”

Flowering Plants

Seasonal blooms and color.

Evergreen Shrubs

Structure and greenery through the year.

Ornamental Grasses

Texture, height and movement.

Mixed Planting

Layered shrubs, flowering plants and accents.

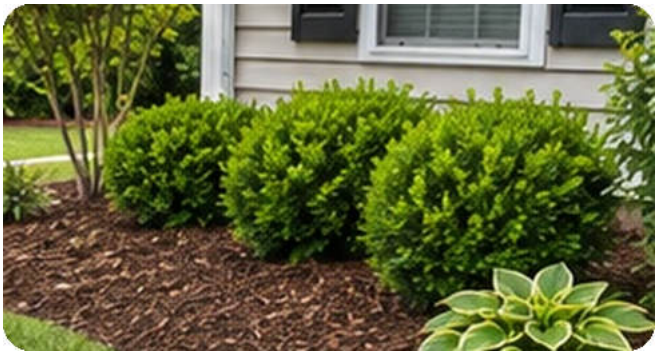

Which landscape style fits your home?

Start with a feeling. We can tailor the design to your property.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Clean and simple, colorful, natural, or mixed materials?”

Clean & Simple

Neat lines and classic greenery.

Natural & Layered

Soft shapes and natural textures.

Colorful Garden

More flowers and seasonal color.

Mixed Materials

Mulch, stone, plants and accents together.

Would you like a dry creek bed?

A stone feature can bring movement and character to the landscape.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Small accent, medium garden creek, or a wider feature?”

Small Accent Creek

A narrow decorative stone ribbon within an existing garden.

COMPACT

Medium Garden Creek

A more prominent curved feature with river rocks and planting.

MID-SIZE

Large Statement Creek

A broader natural-looking feature with varying stone sizes.

LARGE IMPACT

Decorative examples only. Drainage solutions require site inspection, grading review and a suitable water outlet.

Which Cane Creek stone size do you prefer?

Different stone sizes create different textures and visual effects.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

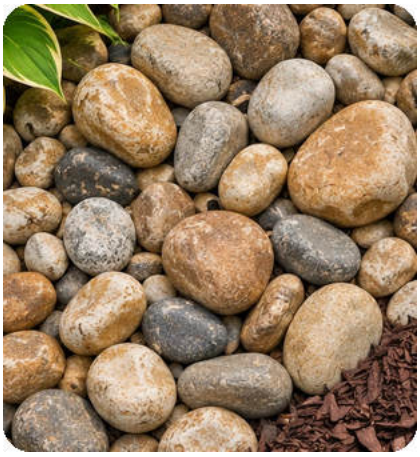

“We can use one size or a thoughtful mix of sizes.”

SMALL

Finer texture

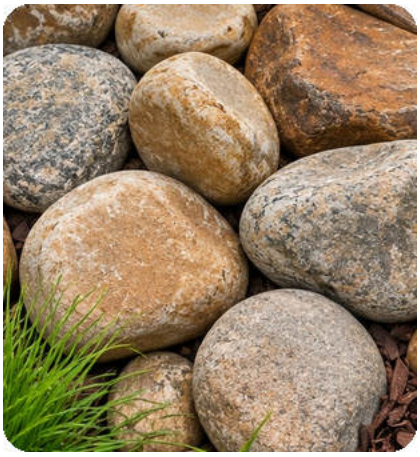

Closely packed, rounded stones for selected accent areas.

MEDIUM

Natural river look

Distinct stones with a classic river-bed appearance.

LARGE

Bold accents

Larger stones for focal points and creek-style features.

GARDENBORO DESIGN NOTE

A combination of sizes can give a dry creek or garden bed a more natural feel. We can pair the stone with mulch, bark, planting and edging.

Product names and actual sizes vary by supplier; final materials are confirmed for each estimate.

How much would you like to transform?

We can tailor the project to your goals, priorities and budget.

YOUR GARDENBORO GUIDE

“Would you start small, improve one part, or redesign everything?”

Refresh

Clean, define, trim and renew the ground cover.

FOCUSED UPDATE

Improve

Add planting and selected new materials where they matter.

SELECTIVE ENHANCEMENT

Transform

Update the layout, planting and finishing materials together.
